

The Collective Tap Podcast

September 16, 2022

Have you ever wondered how food and beverage production uses water? THE COLLECTIVE TAP podcast series by the White River Alliance has the answer in the podcast Big Gulps – Water at the Industrial Scale, featuring members of our sustainability team. Brian Nash, vice president of corporate sustainability and Catherine Zimmerman, vice president of operations sustainability, joined Brandi Collignon, environmental affairs senior manager and Brandon Alexander, plant director from Coca-Cola Consolidated to share their strategies around sustainable water usage.

To listen to the full podcast, click the link below.

Season 2, Episode 4: Big Gulps - Water at the Industrial Scale