May 2, 2023

Ingredion has received top employer certification from the Top Employer Institute for its businesses in Asia-Pacific, Germany, and the United Kingdom. Ingredion's locations in Singapore and Thailand have received this prestigious certification for the third consecutive year, while China, Malaysia, and South Korea are being recognized for the first time. This remarkable achievement has resulted in the Asia-Pacific region being declared a "Top Employer." In Europe, Germany and the United Kingdom have earned this recognition for the first time.

"Our people are the heart of our business, and to be recognized for creating an environment where people can flourish makes me incredibly proud," said Valdirene Evans, senior vice president, president, APAC and global head of pharma, home and beauty. "I want to congratulate our HR teams, leaders and colleagues across the region for helping to make Ingredion such an inclusive and supportive place to work."

This prestigious certification celebrates companies that excel in their HR strategies and foster empowering work environments. The Institute analyzes 400 HR practices, covering every aspect of a company's people policies, from attracting and onboarding great talent to employee development and engagement, reward and recognition programs, sustainability, and the clear communication of values, ethics and integrity.

"To be recognized as a top employer alongside so many other great companies across various industries is a milestone moment," said Mike O'Riordan, regional president, EMEA. "I am proud of the continued development of our people-centric culture at Ingredion as we shape an even better work environment for our people to thrive."
