SOLID BUSINESS MODEL DRIVING SUCCESS

"We have a solid business model and know how to create value. Over the last three years we have met or exceeded our long-term performance targets. Our balanced mix of products, geographies and industries served position us well now and into the future for growth," she explained.

Highlighting the company's innovation, Gordon emphasized the Company's capabilities in delivering solutions that meet important customer trends like health, nutrition and wholesome/natural ingredients. "Our on-going R&D investment is part of our ingredient solution strategy," she said.

Cheryl K. Beebe, Ingredion CFO, reviewed the Company's long-term targets that remain attractive and achievable. "We expect earnings per share to grow 10 to 12 percent over the long term, while maintaining a focus on return on capital employed. Earnings performance should be driven by a combination of organic sales growth of three to four percent, cost efficiencies and mix improvement," she stated.

In addition the Company has the opportunity to drive earnings growth through acquisitions and/or share repurchase. "Over time we have demonstrated our ability to achieve these targets. In fact, we have exceeded our targeted EPS growth with 17 percent adjusted EPS CAGR since going public in 1998," Beebe pointed out.
